

Fantastic New California Sales Tax Payment Option at efileSalesTax.com

NEWBURY PARK, Calif. – (Oct 23, 2008) – Necessity is the art of invention. So, it’s no wonder that some of the best ideas on the planet come from our customers. You tell us you love e-filing your California Sales Tax returns, but you want more flexibility in how you can make the sales tax payment. The wait is over.

efileSalesTax.com is happy to announce that taxpayers in California can e-file their sales tax returns, but still have the option to mail in a “paper check.” For many taxpayers and tax professionals, this is a critical part of their business process.

efileSalesTax.com still offers the other sales tax payment options you are familiar with – electronic bank debit or using your credit card. However, this new “paper check” choice is now available and many California taxpayers have been anticipating this option.

This is how it works:

During the e-filing process at efileSalesTax, the user is given a choice of tax payment methods:

- bank debit
- credit card
- paper check

If you choose the “paper check” option, efileSalesTax.com will submit the sales tax return electronically, but does not submit any sales tax payment information. After the filing has been submitted, a payment voucher will be generated. Simply print and mail the payment voucher with a check to the Board of Equalization address printed on the voucher. If you are a tax professional, send the payment voucher to your client and they can mail it in with their check.

Another useful feature of the “paper check” option is its versatility. If the taxpayer has already submitted the sales tax payment through another system, (for example - the phone payment system), and they want to just e-file the form; without payment, they can use the “paper check” option, but they won’t need to mail in the payment voucher. “Paper checks” - just another way efileSalesTax.com is giving you flexible sales tax payment options.
